West Sac offering incentive to maker of electric vehicles

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

West Sacramento's staff is negotiating to bring a manufacturer of electric vehicles to the Port Industrial Park.

Stockton-based EVI plans to move somewhere along the I-80 corridor and ramp its 2010 sales volume of $771,000 up to as much as $45 million by 2013 – employing 140 people in a 70,000 square foot facility, according to a report to the city council last week.

The company hopes to help finance the move and expansion with a federal Community Development Block Grant loan, and West Sacramento proposes to help it repay that loan by offering $10 of "tax increment" from the redevelopment agency for every $1,000 that EVI books in sales from West Sacramento. The assistance would be capped at $100,000 per year and $574,000 total. "Participation payments will always be at least equivalent to the City's sales tax revenue (from the company) for the same period," said the report. That makes the subsidy "cost neutral," it added.

The council last week approved the development of a "business participation agreement" with EVI.

The company makes electric light- and medium-duty trucks and walk-in vans for commercial fleets. Proposed local customers include the shipping firm UPS, which has said it is interested in buying vehicles from EVI.

The council report was prepared by Diane Richards of the economic development report, Jon Robinson of the redevelopment agency and Charline Hamilton of the community development department.

Utility rates heading up over several years

'Average' homeowner may see monthly bill go up seven dollars

The economic downturn may indirectly push West Sacramento utility rates up, reports West Sacramento's public works department. Property owners are now being notified that the city is considering a phased-in increase to local sewer, water and garbage fees.

Each of those services is controlled by a separate "enterprise fund," intended to generate enough fees to cover its costs. But there's less new construction and fewer newer homes being built than expected – and that means less is being collected in new user connection fees and in franchise fees from those taking trash to the dump.

The public works department is hoping to raise rates on all three services as gently as possible, said Greg Fabun, public works manager.

"We have put together a bunch of different scenarios for water, sewer and refuse that were in essence complementary to each other," Fabun told the News-Led-

The kids at Elkhorn Village Elementary School have just finished fishing for coins among couch cushions at home, and soliciting family members for donations – all for a good cause.

The schoolkids managed to raise $1,642.53 to help with "Pennies for Patients." The program is run by the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society, and it gives financial help to kids fighting those diseases. On the list of Sacramento-area patients are a range of kids from seven-year old Megan Trinh of Antelope, who has non-Hodgkin Lymphoma, to 17-year old Allison Steele of Elk Grove, who is successfully fighting Acute Lymphocytic Leukemia.

The drive helps with their medical expenses, said Marisela Romero, an 8th grade English teacher at the school on Cummins Way. At Elkhorn, the fund drive took three weeks.

"I told them to start looking in couch cushions," said Romero. "They were bringing in bags of pennies. Some of the parents who could afford to wrote checks. We had kids sitting here rolling pennies – it was fun!"

The school has classes from preschool to eighth grade. "My eighth graders raised $281," said Romero. "The kids all learned something from it."

One particular kid, though, stood out.

"Wesley Sarantis brought in almost $100 of his own allowance money and money he had saved up," she added. "I didn't want to discourage him, but I also didn't want him to bring in everything he had!"

The fundraising drive started with a motivating speech from a River Cats executive. It ended recently, but will be back in 2012.

"This is the first time we've done it, and hopefully we'll do it again next year," Romero told the News-Ledger.

Bomb scare shuts down end of West Capitol

Update: donors help Kiwanis after theft

Kiwanis Club West runs a See's candy booth during the holiday season to raise funds to send local kids to summer camp. When their Southport shop was burglarized before Christmas, we reported on it. A Kiwanis rep tells us that after the article came out, the club received $125 in cash, and a donated cash register, to help make up for what the thieves took.

At about 9:30 a.m. last Wednesday, local police and bomb squads from the CHP and Yolo County responded to a report of a suspicious object left at the Valero gas station near the west end of West Capitol.

Valero and neighboring Chevron were shut down as a safety precaution, as were the nearby street and freeway ramps, as a robot and bomb squad officers investigated a "package with wires sticking out of it next to a gas pump," said Lieutenant Tod Sockman of the West Sacramento police.

Regional media outlets took up station nearby with cameras.

The packaged turned out to be just "an electronic device with parts," he reported afterward. Police were trying to find the person who left the items at the station.

Some things never change

From time to time, my father-in-law, who has always been as interested in American history as I am, sends me books he thinks I might enjoy reading, and the latest one was written by a man named S. C. Gwynne and had the lengthy title of "Empire of the Summer Moon – Quanah Parker and the Rise and Fall of the Comanches, the Most Powerful Indian Tribe in American History". And since the last book he sent me was really good (about Kit Carson and the part he played in opening up the American West), I could hardly wait to get started.

I had always thought that the most warlike Indians who had ever inhabited the North American Continent were the Apaches and the Sioux and even the Blackfeet, but according to Gwynne, "It was the legendary fighting ability of the Comanches that determined just how and when the American West opened up. Comanche boys became adept bareback riders by age six and full Comanche braves were considered the best horsemen who ever rode. They were so masterful at war and so skillful with their arrows and lances that they stopped the northern drive of colonial Spain from Mexico, halted the French expansion westward from Louisiana, and for more than four decades, kept ever-increasing numbers of white settlers from invading their tribal lands."

I had heard of Quanah Parker before, and knew that he was considered to be the greatest (and last) chief of the Comanches, but I knew very little about how that all came to pass. It turns out that he was actually the mixed-blood son of Cynthia Ann Parker, a Scots-Irish daughter of pioneer parents who was kidnapped by the Comanches from the Texas frontier in 1836 when she was only 9-years old. Over time, she grew to love her captors and became infamous as the "White Squaw" who refused to return to her relatives until 1860 when she was finally captured by the Texas Rangers and forced to do so. In the meantime, she had taken the Indian name of Naduah and married a much-feared Comanche chief called Peta Nocona, and given him three children, of which Quanah was the oldest son.

The more I read about the Comanches, the more I came to admire them. Their culture was built around the buffalo, which provided just about everything they needed; lots of fresh meat, tipis made of hides, fuel (dried dung), tools made from buffalo bones, bridles and saddles made of the best hides, and even the bowstrings they needed to do their raiding and stealing of horses. They were also always on the move so they did little if any harm to their environment, and when they did stay in one place for very long, they pitched their tipis next to some of the most beautiful streams in the old American West, where by day they could look out on an endless sea of lush green grass, and at night gaze up at more stars than a man could ever hope to count. And when Comanches felt safe and relaxed, they were "a noisy, jolly, rollicking, mischief-loving people who enjoyed practical jokes, games of chance, and especially singing and dancing."

Anyway, as I was mentioning all this to my 30-something year old daughter and telling her all my favorite parts of the book, she suddenly smiled and said, "So, what are you saying, that you would have liked to have been a Comanche?"

"Yes," I finally admitted. "I mean, they basically had no state, no police, no strict rules of personal behavior, no organized religion, no lying politicians, and they could pretty much come and go as they pleased. In other words, they were some of the last truly free men who ever walked on this earth."

"Dad, they used to scalp people!"

"Well, now it's true that the Comanches used to torture and mutilate some of their enemies, but that was mainly because they wanted to scare people away from their lands. Plus on more than one occasion, the Texas Rangers and the U.S. military wiped out whole villages of Comanches, including all the women and children. So it was a pretty bloody period of American history by all the sides involved."

'So tell me, Dad, what were the Comanche women doing while their men were off having a good time fighting and stealing horses and terrorizing people?'

"So tell me, Dad, what were the Comanche women doing while their men were off having a good time fighting and stealing horses and terrorizing people?"

"Well," I admitted, "the life of a Comanche woman wasn't exactly easy. She was of course in charge of taking care of the children and all the domestic duties, plus she had to put up the wigwams and then take them down when the village moved, and she also had to dress and cook all the meat the warriors brought back, and tan the hides, plant corn, cultivate tobacco, all that kind of stuff, too. But it couldn't have been all that bad of a life if Cynthia Ann Parker spent her every waking moment trying to get back to it after she was rescued and returned to her relatives."

"In other words, you're saying that while the Comanche men were off hunting and fishing and playing war and drinking firewater, their poor women were busy back at home doing all the real work?"

"Well," I said reluctantly, "I guess you could look at it that way."

"Some things never really change, do they, Dad?"

For the residential homeowner, there will be no rate increases for the next fiscal year (beginning July 1) other than a previously planned sewage rate increase, said Fabun. Commercial users would see their rate per hundred cubic feet of water go to $1.79 starting in July.

But over the five-year set of proposed increases, the "average" homeowner would see his or her monthly utility bill go from $79.42 to $86.75 — an increase of about seven dollars, said Fabun. That still compares well with even the current rates paid by residents of other cities in the region, he argued.

"We're currently second-lowest in rates in the region," Fabun said. "Adding in all these changes, we're still second-lowest in the region, even comparing our 2015 rates to their current rates."

The city council will hold a public hearing on the proposed rate changes at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, June 1, at city hall.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS

The Sacramento river registered 3 feet 8 inches, United State gauge at the Southern Pacific bridge yesterday. When this gauge was taken the river was at low tide and it seems strange that already even at this time of the year the tide from the ocean begins to show in this section of the river.

Miss Dixie Miles is the latest addition to the force of the West Sacramento Company headquarters. She has charge of the post office and the telephone office of the corporation. Miss Miles is a native of Chiles Valley, Napa County, and has only been a resident of this section during the past few months.

A test well has been started by the West Sacramento Company on the tract of land east of the railroad tracks and about opposite the Fiber Products Plant. The test well has been sunk to a depth of about fifty feet and will be continued on down to a depth of over 200 feet with the idea in view of adding to the water supply of the district or township. The old well near headquarters has been faithfully supplying water for the residents of the district for several years but with the anticipation of many new homes in the townsite it is very possible that the old well may not be sufficiently large to supply all consumers. Probably the bondholders committee may have in view the idea of promoting townsite sales in the near future and this test well may only be a preliminary for future advancement.

Last Friday, April 4, the ten-months old baby of John and Mathilda Gomes died at their home, 210 Second street, following a few days' sickness. The child had been perfectly healthy until a few days before its death, when it was suddenly taken with stomach trouble and died on the day above mentioned. The funeral was held last Saturday afternoon from the home of the parents and from the church of Our Lady of the Blessed Sacrament, where services were held. Interment was in the Catholic Cemetery.

From the gypsy camp west of town on the state highway last Tuesday two complaints came before Judge Barry's court on the charge of battery. John Williams swore to a charge of battery against Miller Adams, and his brother, Louis Williams, swore to a battery charge against G. Stirpo. Judge Barry placed the defendants under $50 bond and set the trial for Wednesday forenoon. When the defendants came to trial the complainants refused to prosecute, with the result that Adams and Stirpo were discharged and their bonds refunded. All the parties included in the rumpus were gypsies or had been associating with the gypsies west of town. Judge Barry does not like these cases because they simply take the time of his court with no results returning to the county.

The old Hoffman saloon was taken over last Monday by D. Mazzoni to be operated in future and especially during the coming summer as a strictly soft drink parlor. For sometime past this place has been in the hands of Chinese and has been vacant since the reform wave struck the town. Mazzoni in opening the place or in taking it over from the late owner, had in mind the idea of furnishing a place where the young men of Washington might be free to resort and where they might pass their spare time, especially during warm evenings. Mazzoni is going to fit the place with pool, billiard and card tables where young men of the community may pass their evenings.

The Lane family of West Sacramento has moved from the house they lived in for several years past to make their future home in Knights Landing. This house, known as the old Kripp house, has of late gone into much disrepair and it is the intent of the owner, E. Clemens Horst, to fix it up or move it off the property. At one time, not so many years ago, this home was a landmark at this side of the river, and many Sacramento people who used to visit there will remember it as being one of the most hospitable homes in Yolo County. At one time, several years ago, the Kripp home stood in the direct path of a levee break when the river had reached a high point and was swept from its foundations and carried several hundred feet inland. As a matter of fact the land surrounding the Kripp home was left covered with several feet of sand for a distance of nearly half a mile from the river and is today unproductive because of the great piles of debris left by the river flood following the levee break. The section of the river levee is still known as the place where the Kripp break occurred. The levee is now so strongly fortified that there is no possibility for any future break at this section.

A feature of the West Sacramento Auto Camp noticeable to everybody in the neighborhood and even to strangers, is that every woman in the camp has had her hair bobbed, even to the last one during the past week. The good or bad example, as each one looks at it, was set by Mrs. J. Pereira, who is boss when her husband is not around. The camp is now equipped with gas for cooking, electric lights, and water piped to each little home, and that it is a convenient place for campers and travelers goes without saying. There are at least sixty families now on the grounds. A modern grocery store is being operated by the owners of the camp and a large community house serves as a meeting place for all the tourists. Each of the houses has two rooms and makes a comfortable residence in a temporary way for travelers.

KEEN RIVALRY EXISTS IN THE MINDS OF MANY CANDIDATES WHO WOULD SUCCEED SUPERVISOR LEINBERGER

Although an effort had been made by the Independent to ascertain the names of the many candidates who would succeed the late W. J. Leinberger in the position of supervisor from this district of Yolo County, the effort was given up as a bad job because of the great number of candidates.

At least fifteen aspire to the position, some actively, some receptively and some depending entirely on a political pull.

Active efforts have been made however by some, among them being Ed Palm, Sam Harbison and Eli Fourness. All these hail from this section of the district, but in the southern end of the district there are several more, notably Antone Joseph, J. L. Contente and Gus Olson. The name of Jesse Cave has also been mentioned, but since he is a resident of Sacramento County for the time being he seems to be out of the running.

E. B. Smith, Ed Bandy and Dr. F. E. Miller have also been mentioned as candidates, but the Independent has been unable to reach any of these for confirmation.

The well-known independence of Governor Richardson in his appointments bodes surely the name of some Republican who has been a staunch supporter of the party.

Governor Richardson will not consider the name of a Democrat and he will certainly examine thoroughly the credentials of any man aspiring to the position in succession to William J. Leinberger.

The most active steps have been taken by Ed Palm, who is circulating a petition and receiving what might be called universal support on the part of the people of this district. Nobody refuses to sign his petition, but on the contrary every voter seems anxious to back him to the limit.

THREE FIRE TRUSTEES RETURNED AT ELECTION ON LAST MONDAY

Dave Barry, Ray Peek and Jim Lear were elected fire trustees of the Washington district last Monday at a popular election.

A great deal of interest was not displayed by the voters of the district, for in all only twenty-two votes were cast.

Of these Barry received 20 votes, Peek 16 votes, Lear 7 votes, Jack Reuther 6 votes, Inky Peek 1 vote, Peter McGregor 2 votes, while the rest were scattering. In all thirteen candidates showed up but Barry, Peek and Lear were elected to conduct the affairs of the fire district during the coming year.

Lear has been unfortunately called to El Dorado to take his old place with the Caldor Lumber Company for the next few months and may not be able to take a hand in the conduct of the affairs of the district. However, Barry and Peek remain to look after the business of the fire commissioners.

After a short visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Garber of Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Weiss of Oakland returned to their home.

Mrs. M. Brown, county school nurse, was a visitor in Washington on Wednesday for the purpose of arranging for the medical examination of school children before they enter school rather than the examination of the pupils after their enrollment. The latter custom has been in practice at the Washington school in past years. Sixty-three children in the district are expected to enter the school next year.

After spending the week-end in Washington as the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Andrews, Joe and Miss Lasatta Andrews returned to Oakland. The Robbins and the Andrews spent Sunday visiting in Sacramento as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Bennett.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Eugene spent last Sunday on a motor trip, which included visiting Kyburz on the Lake Tahoe highway.

E. L. Blackington has purchased the house located on the corner of Mary and Fourth streets.

Mr. and Mrs. Elon Flint, accompanied by Mrs. B. Moss, left last Sunday for a two weeks' vacation spent in the vicinity of Pacific Grove.

Mrs. H. M. Eugene spent last Tuesday in San Francisco attending a meeting of war mothers held at the Letterman Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jasper returned to their Wheatland home after spending the week-end in Washington as the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Cameron. Miss Maida Jasper, who has been spending a short time visiting with her parents in Wheatland, returned to Sacramento, where she is employed at the Sutter Hospital as a nurse.

A. L. Case, principal of the Washington grammar school, who was confined to his home for a few days by illness, has recovered.

Last Saturday evening a meeting was held in the town hall at which Judge Barry presided and P. A. Fitzgerald was secretary. The endorsement of Sam Harbison was proposed at that meeting, but he refused to accept, because he did not consider the meeting large enough and not sufficiently representative.

That settled the meeting and it adjourned without taking definite action.

On Monday forenoon, a number of farmers from the upriver district assembled at the town hall at the request, we have been informed, of Eli Fourness.

It is understood that the candidacy of Fourness received an endorsement at that meeting but what further steps have been taken by him are unknown.

There is a good deal of contention that the supervisor should be named from Washington or vicinity, being, as it is, in the center of the district where the appointee would be more easily available and more easily found by taxpayers than in any other section.

In addition the great majority of the voting population is centered in Washington, Riverbank and West Sacramento. At least sixty-five per cent of the voters are in this district and they should have the principal say in the naming of their supervisor.

It is believed that Governor Richardson will not delay the naming of some person to fill the place, for his presence on the board of supervisors might be compelling at any moment on account of the foot and mouth disease. Hasty action, however, will not be taken by the governor no matter how much pressure may be brought to bear on him.

The board of supervisors has asked the governor to name a man as soon as possible for fear of any emergency.

ARIZONA GANG IS DRUBBED TO FINISH AND LOCKED IN JAIL

A bunch of roughnecks from the Arizona district of Sacramento, south of the R street railroad track, numbering about sixteen saw fit to invade Washington last Tuesday evening and believed themselves, for a few minutes, to be running the town.

Their delusions were dispelled very quickly when a few of the local boys under command of Henry Buckingham charged on the gang. The gang bolted and made for the upper deck of the Southern Pacific bridge to cross the river, but some of the local boys headed them off by taking a short cut through the stairway at Front and Anne streets.

Cornered at the head of the bridge, the Arizona gang put up a short fight but it was soon quelled and eight of the youngsters were taken in charge by local boys and Constable Buckingham and locked in the calaboose.

These roughnecks were very brave but they forgot the stairway that was the means of heading them off and when they found themselves cornered they were the meekest lot of toughs ever seen.

In the local calaboose they gave the names to Constable Buckingham of Frank Brown, 514 T street; Normal 510 N street; Jack Wright, 2124 Third 510 N street; Jack Wright 2124 Third street; Joe Silva, 2215 Third street; Peter Palmero, 1915 Fourth street; Domenic Slavich, 326 T street, and Mike Moralo, 506 S street.

Of the gang a few escaped but it is a pretty sure shot they will not return again soon to Washington to disturb the quiet of this community.

REGISTRATION AWAY BEHIND FOR THE PRIMARY ELECTION

At the closing of registration last Saturday evening only three hundred and ninety voters of this district had registered to take part in the primary election of May 6.

On the registry that expired last Saturday, from this district of Yolo County there were 787 names, therefore there must be about 400 voters left who have not seen fit to register thus far this year.

From those who registered it appears that the party registration is about even up. Mrs. P. R. George, who registered 193 before the primary, said the voters were about equally divided, with a slight shade in favor of the Republican rank.

On the other hand 200 that had been registered by Constable Buckingham showed a slight lead on the part of those of Democratic belief.

One Socialist was registered. It seems extraordinary that the people are taking such slight interest in the political affairs of the county and state.

If a supervisory contest comes up in November, which no doubt will happen, interest in the contest will

ESTATE OF LEINBERGER OVERESTIMATED BUT FAVORS LAVISHED

Reports published in some of the Woodland papers and repeated in some of the Sacramento papers estimated the estate of the late W. J. Leinberger at about $100,000.

Relatives of the deceased, who should know intimately about his affairs, declare this estimation to be too high, but are willing to say that it would fairly be estimated at about $35,000.

The will of the supervisor will not be opened for the next two weeks and until that takes place nobody can say that a safe estimate can be made of the total.

The splendid encomiums passed on the deceased are a testimony of the high estimation in which he was held and one published in the Democrat of Woodland deserves repetition here.

It reads:

WHOLE COUNTY GRIEVES OVER DEATH OF GOOD OFFICIAL, LOYAL FRIEND

Those who have been close observers of the activities of the Yolo County Supervisors in the last few years, need not be reminded of the faith and enthusiasm with which William Leinberger of Washington served the people of his district and the entire county. His death is cause for profound sorrow. His place as a public servant will be difficult to fill as he did it.

"Billy" was UNCOMPROMISINGLY HONEST. His sincerity was unquestionable. He had rare business judgment. These were his equipment as a county official. He added to it A HEART BIG ENOUGH TO EMBRACE ALL HUMANITY; an approachability and sympathy that won him friends; an understanding interest in all his associates; a personal loyability beyond the power of words to express; and LOYALTY TO HIS FRIENDS that was one of the most outstanding attributes of his makeup. Beneficiaries under the will are as follows:

Mrs. Louise Smith of Washington, a sister; Mrs. C. Shick of Sacramento; Maggie C. McCarthy, Sacramento; Walter Leinberger, a nephew, of Washington; Charles Leinberger, a brother, of Sacramento; Henry Leinberger, Jr., a brother, of Washington; Henry Leinberger, Sr., father, of Washington; and Gus Goldberg of Sacramento.

A. M. Koehler and Goldberg are named in the will as executors of the estate.

LOCAL YOUNG COUPLE ARE QUIETLY MARRIED

Miss Marie Sophia Schad of Bryte and Arthur Irvine Lawrence of Washington were married last Saturday morning at the Cathedral of the Blessed Sacrament in Sacramento by Father Lyons. Miss Annie Schad and Miss Inez Sanchez of Bryte were the witnesses. After the wedding ceremony the group enjoyed a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride. Immediately thereafter the couple departed for San Francisco and other bay points on a honeymoon.

ASPARAGUS SEASON UNDER WAY IN YOLO

Asparagus not under contract is being sold to the canners at six cents a pound, reports the Holland Land Company, which has already started cutting of the asparagus crop on its properties in Yolo County. The season will probably last about 100 days. It is not unusual during the warm weather, when the grass is growing rapidly, for a good cutter working by contract, to make ten dollars per day, the day often starting at daylight and ending at dark.

Any silly fad will do to spend money for the schools of Sacramento. Bids are now in for paving 10,000 square feet of concrete for lawn tennis courts.

The boys are going to study in the courts and the girls will watch them.

Bold thieves take fuel from parked trucks, gas stations

West Sacramento police say that rising oil prices mean that fuel theft is on the rise.

And they are looking for one particularly brazen thief who has visited at least one closed gas station at night to make off with over 1,000 gallons of fuel at a time.

A surveillance tape helped identify the suspect's vehicle as a blue, older-model Ford F-250 pickup truck with two doors and an extended cab. In the back of the truck is a large plastic tank.

Local gas stations and truck operators have reported a number of gas and diesel thefts lately. Thefts have occurred from trucks parked overnight in parking lots and side streets, as well as from gas stations while they are closed overnight.

"Suspects carry siphons, pumps, hoses and large tanks in trucks and box trucks, using these items to siphon the gas out of vehicle gas tanks and stationary gas tanks," said the West Sacramento Police Department. If you have information on the Ford pickup truck or any of the thefts, you're asked to call non-emergency police dispatch at 372-3375.

I am not discriminating against cell towers. I understand the increasing competition, demand and need for cell towers. What is our inventory here in West Sacramento? And, can we possibly maximize the usage of carriers on them? I am not sure how many carriers can share a cell tower but this could possibly decrease the need for another one. Has the Board considered cell towers on annexed land? Or possibly, take into account, farm land under the Williamson Act? Usually those properties are enough of a distance that won't increase a health risk to nearby residents.

Would you want to live near a cell tower and risk the health and safety of yourselves, your children, and the public?

Please take into consideration, that should the City approve the proposed cell tower site on 3200 Jefferson Blvd., and the value of our properties decrease because of the close proximity of the cell tower, we will be forced to seek just compensation from the City of West Sacramento.

Take a minute

April is Child Abuse Prevention Month. It only takes a minute to make a difference in a child's life. It only takes a minute to:

Believe in a child;
To listen to a child;
To hug a child;
To realize words hurt;
To talk to a child, and not yell;
To stop a child from being hurt; or to Prevent child abuse.

It is well worth our time as parents, grandparents and members of the community to "take a minute" to make a difference in a child's life. Scientific studies confirm a direct link between child abuse and a significantly greater risk later in life for divorce, substance abuse, crime, suicide and premature death from cancer and other serious illnesses.

I would ask everyone to "take a minute" and think about what you might do to make the children in your life feel more loved and valued. Then to take another minute to show those same children just how important they are to you.

I can't think of a more gratifying way to spend a minute. Can you?

News-Ledger Editorial:

Cell phone tower

The debate over a planned wireless tower in Southport has a little something for everybody – or at least something to tick everybody off a little bit.

First, there is the appearance of the thing: in the belief that a tree-style tower will be less obtrusive than a tower-style tower, AT&T plans to build this thing as faux eucalyptus. You can love it or hate it, and if you live close to the site at Southport Parkway and Marshall Road, you'll probably do one or the other. Then, there are the alleged health risks. Some people maintain that wireless transmission towers pose a low-level threat to safety. Even though that's debatable, the mere fact that such a question exists in the public mind may well affect property values near such towers. (Federal law, we're told, prevents a local jurisdiction from debating this issue while considering a new tower).

After that, you have the issue of the quality of your local cell phone and wireless service. The News-Ledger has heard from several Southporters who say a local tower is needed for better service. And, while this one is planned by AT&T, it's common practice for the tower operator to make business arrangements for other cell phone providers to use this tower as well.

Finally, you have the question of AT&T's commitment to the neighbors. The company needs a permit, and a leasing agreement, from the City of West Sacramento. It's a discretionary decision for the City.

In the run-up to that decision, AT&T invited neighbors to a community meeting, which it didn't legally have to do. But although the project obviously centers on the question of whether to approve a 60-foot eucalyptus-style wireless tower, the invitations from AT&T never actually mentioned the 60-foot eucalyptus-style wireless tower. A cynical person might wonder if this was a matter of deliberate obfuscation: the company wanted to appear to invite community input without really attracting any. (Shortly after the News-Ledger contacted AT&T to ask about these invitations, more specific information about the tower appeared on at least one local website).

So take your pick: beautiful or ugly? Healthy or dangerous? Needed or not?

Some time ago, the News-Ledger noted that West Sacramento lies on a popular path for several different kinds of bicyclists, many of whom cruise back and forth through town on West Capitol Avenue. Some are West Sacramentans but many are not. There are the commuters, steaming to and from work between places like Davis and Sacramento, with bike lights and a change of work clothes strapped someplace. There are lycra-clad recreational cyclists going through town on a track, say, from Sacramento to the hills of western Yolo County. And there's a pretty significant transcontinental bike route that comes through town on the same street, helping to connect San Francisco with the Atlantic at Yorktown, Virginia. Particularly in the summer, you can spot some of these cross-country folks, their bikes loaded with gear and sleeping bags.

The new civic center would be a pretty good place to provide a little welcome for these folks, whether they're local or just passing through. A few tools, some air for the tires, and some water, for example. It would help convey a positive image of West Sacramento and would encourage these two-wheeled visitors to stick around a little bit and maybe patronize a nearby downtown restaurant.

The City of Cambridge, Massachusetts, has just installed several "Bike Fixit" stands, with just such features. You can find more details with a simple Internet search.

Certainly, it's a bad time financially for West Sacramento to follow suit, even though the costs are not really that high. But the city would become more bike-friendly with two or three such units, near busy bike trails in places like the civic center or the trails of Southport. But perhaps the time will come.

Wedded

Agustin and Maria S. Gonzalez of Yuba City announce the marriage of their daughter, Maria Salud, to Nakona Justin Felix, son of Narciso and Stacia Felix of West Sacramento.

They were sealed in the Sacramento LDS Temple on March 19, 2011. A reception for hundreds of family and friends followed at The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in West Sacramento.

Maria, 21, is employed by the City of West Sacramento Parks and Recreation. She attends Sacramento State.

Nakona, 23, is employed by St. Hope Public Charter School in Sacramento and the City of West Sacramento Parks and Recreation.

The honeymooned on a cruise to Mexico and returned to make their new home in Sacramento.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Tower is health risk

(Open letter to the West Sacramento Planning Commission regarding one of two different local cell phone tower proposals in Southport)

We own several parcels directly behind the proposed camouflaged pine tree communication cell tower at 3200 Jefferson Blvd., near Tower Mart. I question, how many of you live near a cell tower or would want to move near a cell tower? Especially, knowing the health risks involved and the exposure to various types of cancer and other unknown health ailments.

The controversy, about the safety of cell phone towers, has been going on for years. You can read current articles posted on the internet supporting both sides. There are a number of times that government has told the people that things were safe, and in time, admitted to their wrong findings. The mythology, that the current levels of emissions are safe persists, despite plenty of solid evidence to the contrary.

Since the Telecommunications Act passed, there is more and more evidence emerging about the dangerous consequences of electromagnetic radiation. The United States level of emissions is one of the highest, compared to many countries. Safer standards would require additional costs, which certainly the industry is committed to avoiding.

I ask all of you to please take the time to inform yourselves before making the decision to place this cell tower in our existing neighborhood or in any existing neighborhood. Here are some facts. In the German city of Naila, a study found that those who reside within a radius of two-tenths of a mile from cell towers were three times more likely to develop various cancers than those living further away. Breast cancer topped the list. Also, a neighborhood in Tel Aviv, the cancer was quadrupled for residents living near cell towers. Children are especially vulnerable to electromagnetic radiation. Their rate of leukemia due to cell site exposure increases to twice the average, than those living further away. Generally, the risk of cancer appears to be related to the proximity of residents to the cell sites. Take London for example. People living in apartment buildings, the rate for those living on the top floor near the cell site, were exposed to 10 times more electromagnetic radiation than those living on the lower floors.
